Backstrom Conference Room

One of the most utilized rooms in the Hauptli Student Center is not the upstairs lounge or even the much-used lobby outside of the Den. It’s the Backstrom Conference Room just down the hall. Thanks to a generous gift by John and Anne (Backstrom) Dykes, this multi-purpose room has given a meeting place for a variety of conversations.

Named after Daffin “Swede” Backstrom, famed Kansas Wesleyan basketball coach, athletic director, and football coach, this room has become invaluable to campus. From athletic department meetings to capital campaign brainstorming to receptions and impromptu Homecoming photo shoots, meetings take place in Backstrom nearly every day of the week.

Completed in 2008, the walls are adorned with pictures of the beloved Coyote, as we are always reminded of his good nature, continuous smile, and willingness to help others.
Each year, Kansas Wesleyan University celebrates the lives and contributions of extraordinary individuals during its’ annual Founders Day celebration. The event is attended by many, including members of the University’s Heritage Society, Board of Trustees and Foundation Board members, University officials, and students who have benefited from scholarship donations. KWU Heritage Society members are recognized for including the University in their estate plans, establishing an endowed scholarship, or both.

Founders Day 2011 was celebrated February 25 in the Student Activities Center at KWU. Five funds established during fiscal year 2010 were honored, including the Virgil and Barbara (Hummel) Arensman Endowed Scholarship, Roger K. Birckhead Endowed Scholarship, Focus on the Future Foundation Scholarship, Professor Fran Jabara Leadership Award, and The Miltonvale United Methodist Church Endowed Scholarship. These funds represent a variety of reasons why donors support KWU. Some honor a spouse or were established with an estate gift. Some funds were established by organizations blending their mission with that of KWU. Most of the funds were scholarships, while another awards student excellence.

These gifts follow many others and as we celebrated our history and 125th Anniversary, Randy St. Clair questioned, “What music will we write?”

St. Clair, (’66) was the featured speaker and explained that we celebrate Founders Day, “to look back at our roots, our founding AND the opportunity we have to honor and sustain all that’s preceeded us, and commit ourselves to raising the bar, raising the level of expectations and performance, and increase the reach and impact of KWU.”

The idea of founding a college began in 1883 and Kansas Wesleyan opened 125 years ago on September 15, 1886. St. Clair explained, “Those 19th Century Methodist leaders believed… and they acted. Their example continues to resonate 125 years later. We’re here because we believe, and our actions are essential to building on the foundation and the founders we celebrate tonight. To honor our founders, and their successes through the years, our actions must demonstrate our commitment to Kansas Wesleyan’s values and goals, our unselfishness, energy, and positive attitude.”

St. Clair questioned the audience, “We know what we owe the founders – and sustainers – of Kansas Wesleyan. What will others owe to us? How will we be remembered? What’s our legacy? We have the opportunity to leave our own legacy, in our own way… to write our own music. Mary Ann and I are so grateful to have the chance to be a part of this great place, to encourage and support our history and our great future. As we celebrate tonight, looking back and ahead, we thank you, and the thousands of others, who are writing their choruses for Kansas Wesleyan. Because the music is you.”

If you would like more information about how you can help future generations of Kansas Wesleyan students through the establishment of a planned gift or an endowed scholarship, please contact the Office of Institutional Advancement at (785) 827-5541, Ext. 1121.
Kansas Wesleyan University Young Alumnus Award recipient Merrick Henry, Professor of Graphic Design at Savannah College of Art and Design.

I should admit I was a bit surprised when I learned about my inclusion for the ‘Young Alumnus Award’. Without false modesty, I felt that other alums are also worthy of this recognition. In 2000, I graduated from Kansas Wesleyan University with all engines go. Shortly after graduation I made the decision to attend graduate school. It’s with strong guidance from my peers and family that I was able to fulfill my dream as a graduate student at Kansas State University, which, with a lot of focus and hard work, resulted in offers from three excellent institutions of higher education. Six years after graduate school, I am privileged to hold the title of professor of graphic design at the Savannah College of Art and Design.

I started my education at Kansas Wesleyan University as an athlete and a student in the winter of 1997. This was an amazing eye opener for a young student like me coming from the west coast but who grew up in Jamaica. My love for soccer and art attracted me to KWU but most of all the friendship and comradery glued me to the University. I am fortunate to have great friends who I will always count on and even call family.

Throughout my years at KWU, I have met a lot of inspirational people while attending school, who have changed my life dramatically. My first thank you goes to Professor Brad Anderson, who not only opened my eyes to ART and taught me how to see and read ‘Art’, but how to live it. His admiration for students is profound and he seems to notice something inside of them before they know it’s there.

I would also like to recognize my fellow soccer teammates, who went through thick and thin including bringing home two national championships for the Kansas Wesleyan University soccer team. Without their love and stories, I would not be the person I am today. And, to coach Michael Dibbini, who always pushed us, even when we were on empty. His dedication and effort continues to put Kansas Wesleyan University on top!

It took me some time to write this speech after discovering that I would not be able to attend this reception. It’s been almost ten years since I took classes at KWU, but every time I visit it feels like it was only yesterday I was there taking classes. My family and I are very thankful, blessed and appreciative for this award. It’s a great honor to be included among such a prestigious group of alums. My regret is that I am not there in person and among all the people who have helped me to this point. There are so many other people that I wish to thank, but I want to let you know you are in my heart and prayers.

I would like to conclude by thanking the University, the President, and all faculty and staff members that have kept the University prosperous. To the city of Salina, which I once called home for many years:

Thank you for this moment, it will always be part of who I am and my family. God Bless.

GO YOTES!!
The Liberian Project

Last fall, Kansas Wesleyan University officials were researching methods to help students enrolled in the “Wesleyan Challenge” freshman college orientation course to understand the Kansas Wesleyan Mission Statement through the Social Principles of the United Methodist Church.

Kansas Wesleyan Executive Vice President and Provost Dr. Wayne Lowen and Dean of the Chapel and Director of Retention Rev. Dr. John Blackwell met and discussed ways to integrate the freshmen as well as to have a major, campus-wide program that could unite the entire university in a service based setting. The duo decided that raising awareness of the needs of individuals in Liberia would be an ideal goal. What came out of their meetings was the KWU Liberian Project.

The goal of the project was for the Kansas Wesleyan community to raise at least $10,000 to be used in two projects benefitting those in Liberia. The first project was an $8,500 prong to build a school building directly through the Liberian Widows Initiative. The second project was a $1,500 prong to Tiyatien Health, to provide computer hardware and training for the hospital staff. These projects were selected because KWU faculty members were already volunteering with these organizations and had high confidence in their work.

The result was a resounding success on campus. Through donations, t-shirt sales, dinners, motorcycle poker runs, raffles, a barbeque dinner, website donations and a concert, Kansas Wesleyan raised $10,860 to go towards these two projects. Many of the fundraisers were organized as part of the classroom assignments through Professor Paul Hedlund’s undergraduate and graduate classes.

“I want to sincerely thank the KWU community for its commitment to the Liberian Widows Initiative,” said Kate Brubacher, Founder and President of the Liberian Widows Initiative which is based in North Newton, Kan. “You made it possible for Liberian families to have a safe, clean space for education, worship, and small-scale financial products. This is an incredible gift for people who live in abject poverty.”

Brubacher was contacted by Kansas Wesleyan professor Dr. Dave Kraemer to serve as KWU’s liaison to the Liberian Widows Project.

“I wish I could adequately express my gratitude and the thankfulness of the Liberian families you have served,” Brubacher said. “Since first meeting with faculty two years ago, I have been continually moved by your desire to expose your students to the difficult and wonderful things happening in far-off places. Since you have launched the Liberian Project, I am now not only moved by your values, but wildly impressed by your ability to make things happen!"

Some people may ask why the Liberian Project? Liberia was engaged in a brutal civil war from 1989 until 2003 that decimated the country leaving a 85 percent rate of unemployment, little business, no infrastructure, the third highest infant mortality rate and the fifth lowest life expectancy in the world. The average annual income in Liberia is $158. The goal of the Liberian Project at Kansas Wesleyan is to help alleviate poverty by providing capital, training and support so that the survivors of Liberia’s civil war might generate sustainable income, while also providing a school where they can learn marketable skills, and to provide both medical care and mental health care for those in need.
The Liberian Project

Since participating in the Liberian Project last year, the Kansas Wesleyan University community is ready to hit the ground running again in 2011-12. After surpassing the goal last year to raise $10,000 by nearly $1,000, sights are set high for another successful campaign. The money KWU raised was used to build a school through the Liberian Widows Initiative and also helped fund the training for computer systems at Tiyatien Health, a hospital located in Liberia. KWU was also able to obtain a grant from the United Methodist Church to purchase a truck for transportation to the hospital.

The goal for this year is to raise another $10,000. The money will be focused on healthcare and education for Liberia.

“We want to buy a vehicle for transportation to the hospitals, as well as, provide training to become nurses and physician’s assistants,” said Dr. Wayne Lowen, Executive Vice President and Provost of KWU.

There are many medical problems amongst the people of Liberia and the need for medical attention is great. Last year, many students got involved because they were a part of classes that participated in fundraising for the cause. Dr. Paul Hedlund, Associate Professor of Business, reached out and had his students use the skills they learned in the class to help this cause. Hedlund said the students were very creative with the ideas they came up with and it turned out very well.

Hedlund said, “Our partnerships have grown strong with Tiyatien Health and Liberian Widows Initiative. Each agency will visit campus to express their gratitude and hope for future success.”

Although last year students were involved with this project through their course work, Dr. Lowen wants to reach out to all our students and help them become aware of what else is going on in the world and explore ways to help.

Dr. Lowen, said, “We are trying to get more focus from student organizations this time.”

Although it may not solve all the problems in Liberia, “We can make an impact, so why wouldn’t we?” said Dr. Lowen.

Hedlund adds, “There is always plenty of need in Liberia!”

If you’re interested in being a part of the Liberian Project, you can contact Dr. Lowen at 785-827-5541 ext. 1282 or wayne.lowen@kwu.edu, Dr. Paul Hedlund at ext. 2218 or paul.hedlund@kwu.edu, or Dr. Dave Kraemer at ext. 2214 or kraemer@kwu.edu.
Professor Jerry E. Norton has been involved in legal academics for more than forty years. In 1967, following four years law practice in Salina and one year completing an LL.M degree at Northwestern University under the tutelage of Fred E. Inbau, he joined the faculty of IIT/Chicago-Kent College of Law as Assistant Professor. At Kent he was one of the organizers of the Police Law Institute and Editor of the Chicago-Kent Police Law Reporter, a publication directed to police executive and legal advisors. In 1971, Professor Norton joined the law faculty of Loyola University Chicago. Over the years, he has published articles in the Journal of Criminal Law, the University of Illinois Law Forum, Wake Forest Law Review, Judicature, Loyola Chicago Law Journal, Public Interest Law Reporter, Washburn Law Journal, Chicago-Kent Law Review, and Chicago-Kent Police Law Reporter. Several of these articles have been republished including one, Liberty: A Human Right, or a Citizen Right, which was reprinted in Human Rights: A Global Agenda (V.B. Malleswari ed. (2007) (Amicus Books of Icfai University Press, India).

Between 1992 and 2002 Professor Norton was active with the American Bar Association’s Central and East European Law Initiative (CEELI). He reviewed draft laws being submitted in countries newly released from the domination of the Soviet Union. These draft law reviews and concept papers covered criminal codes, codes of professional responsibility and other laws defining the roles of the legal profession and law enforcement. Over this decade, Professor Norton prepared 23 reviews and concept papers dealing with laws being considered in Hungary, Azerbaijan, Ukraine, Belarus, Croatia, Albania, Georgia, Moldova, the Kyrgyz Republic, Tajikistan, Lithuania, Macedonia, Slovakia, Kosova, Bulgaria and Russian itself.

In recent years Professor Norton has been involved in projects concerned with technology and the criminal law. In May 2008 at the urging of the Cook County Sheriff, Tom Dart, he wrote a memorandum titled AudioVisual Conferencing in Criminal Pretrial Proceedings in Cook County. He concluded that
The Kansas Wesleyan Board of Trustees held a meeting on June 25, 2011, and elected new members and officers for the 2011-12 academic year.

Additionally, the Board approved the renewal of the contract of Dr. Fletcher Lamkin as President and CEO of the University.

New Trustees elected are: Dr. Virginia “Ginny” M. Bevan (Salina), Ms. Debora L. Cox (Salina), Dr. David B. Laha (Overland Park, Kan.), and Ms. Jane D. Philbrick (Goodland, Kan.). Bevan, Laha, and Philbrick are all alumni of Kansas Wesleyan University. The new trustees will begin their terms of office at the Fall 2011 Board meeting.

Trustees re-elected for their second term on the Board include: Ms. Marla Beikman and Mr. Jeff Wells; both KWU alumni.

James Nelson was elected as the Chairperson of the KWU Board of Trustees for 2011-12.

The Board’s new elected officers for 2011-12 are: Chair, Mr. James Nelson (Dallas, Texas), Vice Chair, Mr. Randall St. Clair (Parkville, Mo.), Treasurer, Dr. Donna McKinley (Broomfield, Colo.), and Secretary, Ms. Marla Beikman (Dallas, Texas).

Mr. Kent Lambert (Salina) was recognized for serving as the Board Chair for the 2010-2011 year. He will now serve as the Immediate Past Chair, completing his full term on the Board next year.

Three trustees completed their full term (nine years) and were recognized by the Board: Mr. David Branda (Goodland, Kan.), Mrs. June Jennison (Salina) and Mr. Michael Fardella (Lincoln, Neb.).

“Under the leadership of Dr. Lamkin, KWU continues to operate with a balanced budget, enrollment indicators are strong, and additions to the faculty and staff will further strengthen the University. The Board is pleased with and optimistic about the direction of the University and is excited about continuing to work with Dr. Lamkin as KWU looks to the future and continued growth and excellence. The Board also expresses its appreciation to all students, faculty, staff, administration and alumni for their continuing contributions to the success of Kansas Wesleyan University,” said James Nelson, incoming Chairperson of the Board of Trustees.
Students Travel Kansas for Vacation Bible School

Chiton Brinson, a junior, Jessica Hauschild, a freshman, and Dallas Lewis, a freshman, all Kansas Wesleyan students, along with, Virginia Smith, a senior from Baylor University, spent the summer traveling around Kansas to lead Vacation Bible School courses at five different United Methodist Churches around the state. The group stopped in Jennings, Coldwater, Florence, Randolph, and Minneapolis, KS. This was the second year Kansas Wesleyan has been able to make this VBS program a possibility.

The group did an amazing job, by doing interactive fun, activities that taught students about their faith, and increasing attendance at the bible schools by thirty percent for the kindergarten through fifth grade age group. They also worked with middle school and high school aged kids and offered youth night at two of the churches.

Cindy Merritt, a member of Coldwater United Methodist Church, said, “It was an overwhelming success. We had a greater number of kids than we expected.”

It was a challenge but, “I enjoyed it. It helped me become more confident in my leadership skills, my faith, and who I am as a person,” said Hauschild.

Merritt was very encouraged by attendance numbers. “It was very helpful for our church to see what goes on and get inspired to make this a yearly event,” said Merritt.

The students were able to help provide the churches’ youth with a fun, safe, environment to worship and learn, while also receiving a stipend and three hours of college credit.

Hauschild and the others didn’t know each other before agreeing to do the VBS program together, but they bonded immediately. They also met a number of new people from different places around the state. “It gave me a chance to branch out from my normal crowd,” said Hauschild.

Hauschild was satisfied with the overall experience, “I am considering doing it again in the future.”

The students would like to offer a special thanks to the KWU Alumni Council for their gift to student tuition that helped make the trip a reality.

If you would like an opportunity to help students develop their leadership skills through this program, donations are being accepted by the Center for Small Membership Churches. This is a small, joint program between KWU and the Kansas West Conference of the United Methodist Church. There are also opportunities to get involved in this amazing experience and lead VBS in 2012. If you know of a church that is interested, the Center is also selecting churches for next summer. For more information contact Dr. Carl Ellis, Director of the Center for Small Membership Churches at 785-827-5541 ext 1315 or cellis@kswestumc.org.
