

Coming Spring Semester, 2017

HIST130 -- World Geography

M/W/F -- 1:10pm - 2:25pm -- 3 credits

This course provides students an introduction to world geography. Through the use of map work, small and large hands-on projects, and field work, it deals with the distribution of human activities and concerns around the world, including languages, religions, social customs, economic activities, migration and settlement patterns, the availability and consumption of resources, and humanity's need and responsibility to protect and nurture the world and its varied environments. This course satisfies one of the Liberal Studies Requirements for Natural World Stewardship.

For more information please contact Dr. Mike Russell -- mike.russell@kwu.edu or KWU ext. 4358