

NEW EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY FOR STUDENTS IN ALL MAJORS!

ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE MINOR

Registration for fall courses begins in March!

Learn more at www.kwu.edu/environmentaljustice

DO YOU HAVE A PASSION FOR SOCIAL CHANGE?

Open to all majors

This minor includes a carefully curated compilation of current courses in ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCES, EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT, ENVIRONMENTAL SOCIAL SCIENCES and SOCIAL WORK that will equip you with values, knowledge and skills to contribute to organizations that are creating a more resilient, just and healthy world.

18-21 Credit Hours

YOU MAY HAVE CREDIT TOWARD THIS MINOR!

You may have taken some Liberal Studies and Humanities courses that are required for this minor, so you could be just a few hours short of earning it. Check with your academic advisor for more information.

Study in Puerto Rico

EXCITING DIRECTED STUDY OPPORTUNITY!

Optional three-credit-hour experience centered on your area of interest that can take place near Salina or in PUERTO RICO (fees apply).

WHO COULD BENEFIT?

- ▶ A teacher education major who is passionate about the environment and the protection of human rights.
- ▶ A math major who geeks out on data and facts and has a passion for the protecting the planet from the effects of climate change.

- ▶ A biology major who is looking for better solutions for preserving our land.
- ▶ A communications major who can use words and videos to advocate for the rights, health and well-being of all human beings.

- ▶ A social work major who wants to improve community health by creating equal access to healthy food.
- ▶ A business major who wants to enter the finance world and help people understand green investing.

EDUCATION

Community Resilience Hub
Kansas Wesleyan University

ACTION

ADVOCACY

The Community Resilience Hub at Kansas Wesleyan is convener of change agents, a connector to resources, and a leader in collaborative solutions for healthier, more resilient communities. Our work is driven by education, action and advocacy efforts to inspire and empower sustainable change on local, regional and global levels. A few of our current projects include:

- Collaborating with Social Work to launch the Environmental Justice minor
- Developing food security initiatives to expand healthy food access
- Leading education and research efforts in regenerative farming
- Hosting civil discourse training and discussions to build environmental literacy
- Creating a climate action plan on campus

If you are passionate about the environment, want to create a more sustainable campus, are interested in health and food equity, or want to advocate for policies that keep our land sustainable for future generations, connect with us!

Info.CRH@kwu.edu | WWW.KWU.EDU/CRH

CHANGE AGENTS
WANTED!